Big weekend of County action

It has been a quiet week for club activity but this weekend promises some cracking action for Killeavy's representatives in county jerseys. First up on Saturday afternoon we would like to wish Frances Quinn and her Armagh minor colleagues all the best as they take on Waterford in the All-Ireland Ladies semi-final. This match is at 4pm in Blanchardstown and may provide supporters with a useful stopping off point before travelling on to Aughrim where we hope that Steven McDonnell can lead his Armagh team to success in the replay against Wicklow.

Sunday afternoon sees major Killeavy involvement in the Ulster Minor final when Armagh take on Cavan. Four Killeavy players Caolan Trainor, Michael Murphy, Donal O'Neill and Ciaran O'Hanlon are in contention for a place on the team which will be named on Saturday night. Some of the lads have had injury worries but we hope that they are passed fit to take part in this wonderful occasion. Good luck to all three teams this weekend.

Killeavy lose out to the Neighbours

No excuses – on the day the better and more hungry team won the local derby last Friday evening. This was the fourth meeting between the teams and the fixture still has enough novelty and interest to attract a huge crowd to the Memorial Park. The match was closely fought all the way but Killean edged ahead, scoring the last three points to secure a famous and well-deserved victory on a scoreline Killeavy 0.10 – Killean 0.13.

KK Skips extend Sponsorship

Football Summer School starts this week

Following the success of our hurling summer school over the last two years, we are extending the duration and range of this year's offer. From 18th – 22nd July we are offering a Football Summer Camp which will also include drama/dance classes; both Irish and Spanish language classes, face-painting, indoor activities, bouncy castles and a Friday barbecue. From 15 – 19th August, we will repeat all the activities with the coaching focus turned to Hurling. Activities each day from 10.00am – 2.00pm. Participants should bring a packed lunch. Cost per week £20 or £50 for families of three or more. Contact Liam Smith or Susan Byrne for further information and booking.

Scholarships to Gaeltacht

Sunday is the cut off date for applications for scholarships to the Gaeltacht this summer? Apply by eMail stating your name, address and the Gaeltacht course being attended to secretary.killeaveystmoninnes.armagh@gaa.ie.
